ANNOUNCEMENTS

BREED THEATRE.

Marie Doro Surrounded by an all Star Cast in "Common Ground." Feature at the Breed Theatre Today.

Theodore Roberts, Thomas Meighan, Mary Mersch, Mrs. Lewis McCord and Florence Smythe have been chosen to support Marie Doro, the versatile Lasky star, in Common Ground, which is the feature attraction at the Breed theatre today. Miss Doro, whose delightful personality has endeared her to millions of screen patrons is seen in the role of the girl of the slums. How through the kind interest of a young judge she is brought into better environment and how she saves ter environment and how she saves him from ruin by political conspirators is presented on the screen in a novel manner.

Other pictures on the bill are the Pathe Weekly and a very funny come-

Pathe Weekly and a very funny comedy entitled, His Eaby.

The Gates of Eden, Viola Dana's newest starring vehicle, which will appear at the Breed Wednesday and Thursday, is admirably suited to the quaint charm of this wonderfully gifted little artist and gives ser a most complete scope for a wide range of emotion. This is an opportunity welcomed by Miss Dana, and her work will prove a delight and revelation even to her most ardent admirers.

to her most ardent admirers.

The Gates of Eden which was picturized for the Metro programme by the Columbia Pictures' corporation is from the pen of a clergyman, Rev. William E. Danforth and was submitted as a play. ted as a play. It was adapted for the screen by John H. Collins, who also directed it, and who has directed all Miss Dana's productions for Metro.
The twelfth chapter of the Crimson
Stain Mystery will complete the bill for Wednesday and Thursday.

Frank Seaman Gives Away $10,000. Frank Seaman, president of Frank Seaman incorporated the New York advertising organization, played Santa Claus to 165 employes on Wednesday hast. There was a celebration in honor of a prosperious year, which started with a matinee party in the afternoon and a dinner party in the offices of the prganization later, the dinner being ent in large hampers from Yama Parms at Napanoch.

During the evening Mr. Seaman made a short address in which he thanked the employes for their loyalty and announced that an envelope would be handed to each as he, or she left. The envelopes contained checks for varying sums, a total of $10,000 being distrib-nted.

Miss Holt, Missionary Describes Protection Against Turks Afforded by United States Flag-One Watering Trough Repaired, the Other Out of

Miss Sophie Holt, a missionary from Adabazar, Turkey, is the guest of Miss Susan C. Hyde of Washington street. Sunday noon she spoke most interestingly before the Bible classes of the First Congregational Sunday school, telling of war conditions in Turkey—of the suffering especially of those who go into exile. Death is preferred to exile. When Turks were about to enter the school where she was, she rushed upstairs and waved the United States flag from the window, saying, "I am an American," and the house was undisturbed. In closing she quoted the words, These are they who have come out of great tribulation who have washed their robes in the blood of the lamb.

One Watering Trough Repaired. Farmers and others watering their horses have found difficulty in driving near the trough on account of the overflow forming solid ice both near the Green and at Chelsea parade. Now the one near the Green has been repaired and cemented, so that no ice forms, and this is much appreciated.

UNPRECEDENTED VOLUME OF HOLIDAY TRADE

Reported by Chairman Jay of Federal

Reserve Bank of New York.

Reserve Bank of New York.

New York, Jan. 1.—Trade and industry in general "have continued practically unchanged notwithstanding developments in the European war situation, the disturbance in money rates and the very unsettled stock markets," according to information obtained through special reports from numerous firms and corporations in the last few days, it was stated here today by Pierre Jay, chairman of the federal reserve bank of New York.

Retail stores are reported as handling an "unprecedented volume of holiday trade," Mr. Jay's statement says, while collections generally are stated to be very satisfactory. Materials are stated to be still scarce and the deliveries of goods somewhat hindered by a shortage of freight cars. The labor situation, he says, has been considerably improved by the closing down of certain outside activities and by workmen seeking sheltered employment during the winter.

The demand for news print paper, Mr. Jay's announcement says, exceeding for the first time producing capacity of the mills." This is accounted for, he says, by increasing advertising and circulation.

"Everything entering into the manufacture of paper," he adds, "has increased in price, foreign orders are large and imports of foreign-made paper have fallen off considerably."

Short crops and a large demand have caused prices of food products to rise, he says, while seasonal conditions prevail in other lines.

PARISIANS ARE STUDYING THE NEW WAR TAXES Instead of Exchanging New Year's Cards and Calls.

Paris, Jan. 1, 1 p. m.—Parisians began the new year by studying the new war taxes instead of the usual exchange of visiting cards and calls. POETRY

THE RED CROSS NURSE. The country lanes are stained with red.

More scarlet than the kiss of frost, And one leads from the fields of dead where raging battle lines are tossed, Above the screening shrapnel's rain it flees the horror of the plain.

The fragrant hill of dusky green Enfolds its path with pitying leaves Compassionate the dim woods lean As me pale moon her magic weaves. Compassionate the gray church waits A crypt of peace within her gates.

Along the faintly echoing aisles.
The stricken lie in silent lines:
Caressingly a woman smiles.
Above them where the Red Cross slines.
Sweet consolation's brimming bowl.
She pours for every anguished soul.

That English lad with sunny hair, See how she soothes him into sleep And then she crooms a German air To a brave Unian wounded deep. The Breton's brow she softly laves While, flaming, he of battle raves. And so the long night passes on.
The guttering candles flare and die.
As dawn comes, sombre-eyed and wan,
The booming cannon rend the sky.
Yet caimly white above the curse
Moves tenderly the Red Cross Nurse.

The Christ, it has been said, appears The Christ, it has been said, apparent to men whose need is sore for Him. Behold, the Crimson Cross that cheers The sick below the altar dim! Dawn brightens fast and Terror hides. For here the Lord of Peace abides.—Leslie's.

THE TREES IN WINTER

O trees, how pitiful you stand. Wind-shaken, gaunt, o'er all the land, Alone, or huddled in a band! But late you stood in royal dress, Ablaze in varied gorgeousness. And charmed us with your loveliness, Four, five and six rooms each. Rent But still you had no power to hold Your garniture of red and gold. And hours of glory soon were told.

And now you stand bereft and bare. Molding some nest high in the air. Whose tenants left it in your care. And while through barren months you walt. Wind-beaten, chill and desolate, Do you bemoan an adverse fate?

Or, are you waiting, prescient-wise, Knowing the life that in you lies Will show us Spring's sweet mysterics? —Emma A. Lente.

HUMOR OF THE DAY "Have you learned to dance yet in the cabarets?"
